

The marginal among the invisible: women in the informal sector

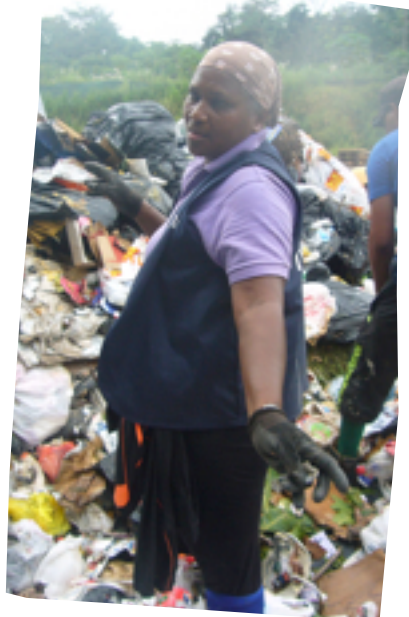

Discussion with Nicaraguan and Malawian speakers, chaired by Prof. Stephanie Barrientos

Monday 4 November from 5pm, University of Manchester, Room 1.218, University Place, Oxford Road, Manchester.

Millions of workers are invisible: self-employed in small unregistered businesses or waged workers in cleaning, catering, commerce and other sectors of the informal economy. Their economic activities are not regulated or protected.

An evening with the Nicaraguan Movement of Working and Unemployed Women and with the Malawian Union for the Informal Sector.

What is the situation of women domestic workers, street vendors and home-based workers in the world, and how do they organise for their rights?

All welcome to attend
